IS your sophomore or junior ready for the upcoming year of English?

High school students are expected to read and respond to difficult texts by writing essays and short answer responses. In these written assessments, students must provide insightful commentary, show their stylistic maturity with concise and elevated word choice, and organize their ideas in a logical and sophisticated manner. A strong foundation of writing skills is imperative for success and achievement in high school and beyond.

Is your child struggling to write clearly and effectively? The focus on state tests has left kids with a very formulaic writing style and has hindered the basic writing process. As a result, many kids do not understand how to transfer their writing skills to real-world applications. This leaves parents frustrated and students overwhelmed by the demands and expectations of an advanced writing curriculum.

This Writing Workshop will help your child find his/her own writing style.

As a way to strengthen the writing of sophomores and juniors, I am offering a summer writing workshop based on the principles of writing that have been shown to be effective for decades.

This Writing Workshop will focus on:

- A Strong Foundation: Getting and Organizing Ideas, Thesis and Topic Statements
- Beat the Clock: Top-Scoring Essays in Timed Situations
- High-Stakes Tests: Writing for the STAAR and SAT assessments
- Tricking Out Your Essay: Simple Techniques to Get Your Essay Noticed

Students will be guided through the foundational elements of the writing process so that they understand the steps and techniques of effective writing. Students will participate in mini-lessons on specific content and editing strategies.

Models of effective writing will be shown, discussed, and imitated. Time for drafting and revising, peer response, and teacher conferencing will also be incorporated in every session. This writing workshop will encourage young writers to discover their own style, voice, and potential, ultimately, helping students grow and build self confidence in their writing abilities.

About Karen Otto

As the English department chair at Carroll High School, Karen is familiar with the rigors and expectations of the English courses in Carroll ISD. Her experience in the classroom (fifteen years and counting), MA in English, and extensive knowledge of the writing process have taught her that all students can write if they are just given the tools to do so. In Karen's presentations at state-level conferences and as a consultant for districts in the DFW, San Antonio, and Waco areas, she has helped other teachers learn how to successfully improve their students' writing.

Testimonials from Students

"Because of Mrs. Otto's help, I have been able to significantly improve my writing."

- Carroll Middle School Student (8th grader)

"Mrs. Otto has helped me so much! I am now able to write with more confidence than ever before."

- Carroll High School Student (Sophomore)

"You've truly had a phenomenal impact on me and my education. The amount of just... THINGS I learned (I know, things is very general, but words cannot even begin to describe the various lessons I took from your class) that I continue to use and hold onto outmatches that of any other class."

- Former Carroll High School Student (Penn State Freshman)

Testimonials from Parents

"My daughter scored a 780 in Writing on her SAT test, and that is thanks to Mrs. Otto! My daughter didn't miss a single multiple choice question, and that was due to Mrs. Otto's efforts last year."

- Parent of Carroll Senior High (Junior)

"Mrs. Otto has the 'it' factor every parent wants in a teacher. She engages the kids at their level, makes them want to work hard for her, and motivates them with her sense of humor and encouragement, all the while teaching them what they need to know and more. My son's writing ability and confidence have improved dramatically after working with Mrs. Otto."

- Parent of Carroll Middle School Student (8th grader)

"I give Mrs. Otto full credit for being such an amazing teacher that she has taken my son, who avoids reading and writing, and in some magical way made that child into one who tells me that English is his favorite class. I attribute this to her skill at teaching and her ability to transfer some of her love and excitement for reading and writing to her students."

- Parent of Carroll High School Student (Sophomore)

"After reading the short story my son wrote with Mrs. Otto's guidance and feedback, I was blown away. It is a cut above any work that I ever did, including in college. It is so satisfying to see your children excel, and I wanted to thank Mrs. Otto for providing him the challenge and support he needed to grow. He's a great kid and works hard, so he definitely earns the grades, but I am also quite confident in saying that he could not have achieved this level of writing without the environment and guidance that Mrs. Otto has provided him."

- Parent of Carroll High School Student (Sophomore)

"I spoke with [my son] this week as he was going into an intense period of exams and papers. He got A's on all of his papers, and one professor actually read his introduction to the class. When I asked who could take credit for his successes, he said, 'Otto all the way!!!'"

- Parent of Former Carroll High School Student (University of Notre Dame Sophomore)

"In a district like ours that has had a long history of high student performance on assessments, it would be easy for a teacher and a leader to rest on these laurels and enjoy past successes. This is not the path Karen Otto has chosen to take. She recognizes the potential our students have, and she works relentlessly to push them, scaffold their learning, and see to it that they rise to the high expectations she sets."
